High-end CCL continues to see solid ASP/profitability expansion trend;
Buy TUC with new TP at NT$1,888*1Q26 overview - TUC strong beat in margin due to the accelerating product mix improvement

TUC's 1Q26 core business (OPI) was 13%/15% higher than both GSe/BBG consensus, while its 1Q26 GM was 1.5/0.9ppt higher than GSe/BBG consensus driven mainly by the much better product mix (M7/8 accounted for 38% of total revenue per our estimate vs. M4/6 accounted for 32% of total revenue) and limited impact from inventory write-off (which impacted ~2ppt of GM in 4Q25). At the same time, the company spent OPEX of NT$701mn, which was lower than both GSe/BBG consensus of NT$764mn/NT$743mn, despite the company's continued investment in expanding business scales. For earnings, TUC's 1Q26 net income was 3%/5% higher than GSe/BBG consensus.

ITEQ's 1Q26 core business (OPI) was 34%/33% lower than GSe/BBG consensus and 1Q26 GM missed GSe by 3.1ppt, primarily due to continued increases in E-glass costs, which had ~3ppt negative impact on GM. OPEX was lower than expected (NT$620mn in 1Q26 vs. GSe at NT$686mn). For earnings, ITEQ's 1Q26 net income was 24%/24% lower than GSe/BBG consensus, mainly due to the limited pricing increases and lower OPEX being fully offset by the negative impact from rising material costs.

Furthermore, ITEQ announced a significant 1.3x increase in CAPEX for the Thailand Phase 2 plant, revised up from THB1.4bn (~NT$1.4bn) to THB3.3bn (~NT$3.2bn). This incremental CAPEX is allocated for the capacity expansion for its LEO satellites businesses, and management expect the facility to add another 600k sheets in monthly CCL capacity by 2028. The company also raised its 2026 CAPEX guidance from no higher than 2025 level of ~NT$1.5bn to NT$1.5-2bn, with investment continuing to focus on expansion in Thailand, which is expected to add 300k sheets in monthly CCL capacity in 4Q26.

April revenue review - TUC enjoyed 22% MoM growth in April revenue, while ITEQ only saw 4% MoM growth

TUC announced its April revenue at NT$4,610mn (+22% MoM, +98% YoY), which was mainly driven by faster than expected share gain in AWS AI server supply chain (is 30%+ now vs. 5/10% in 2025/1Q26) and the improving pricing from April (15-40%+ additional pricing for low end to high end products). For May, we expect revenue to further go up by 10% MoM to NT$5,071mn (137% YoY), thanks to the accelerating AI server demand driven by Trainium 3 (M8+ CCL) and the improving ASP due to better product mix and effect of April pricing hike.

ITEQ also announced its April revenue at NT$3,513mn (+4% MoM, +14% YoY), monthly revenue reaching a historical high driven by continued strength in general server demand and a more meaningful impact from pricing hikes. However, we continue to see pressure from rising material cost despite the pricing increase, while the revenue growth is tracking behind other CCL leaders (EMC and TUC). For May, we expect revenue to rise slightly by 3% MoM to NT$3,619mn (23% YoY), mainly driven by the sustained general server demand and the improving ASP.

2Q26 outlook - We expect TUC to benefit from both revenue growth and margin expansion with better pricing and product mix, as well as new Thailand capacity ramp from June

For TUC, we expect the company to deliver 50% QoQ revenue growth in 2Q26, thanks to not only the accelerating AI server revenue growth (especially Trainium 3 demand, which will be even stronger in 3Q26 & 4Q26), but also much better pricing conditions (which will not only drive the like for like base pricing directly, but also accelerate the product mix improvement speed, as we believe the mid to low end customers could cancel orders considering the less favorable end demand condition) and the company's additional Thailand capacity (double capacity in Thailand - additional 300k sheets /month capacity) could also help the company to enjoy solid shipment growth.

In terms of GM/OPM, we expect TUC's GM/OPM to go up by a further 4.3ppt QoQ in 2Q26 vs. 1Q26, considering the much more favorable product mix and the 10-40% like for like base pricing hike, as well as the solid scale effect on operating leverage.

For ITEQ, we expect the company to see 17% QoQ revenue growth in 2Q26, given the strong general server demand and a slight shift in product mix toward more high-end contribution before the launch of AMD Venice CPU, which is expected to migrate to M7 CCL. We expect ITEQ to benefit more from CCL pricing hikes in 2Q26, as the company has been relatively slower in implementing price adjustments (~10% price hike started in Mar). Moreover, we expect the company's GM level to improve to 15.1% (vs. 11.4% in 1Q26) as we believe the higher pricing and better product mix will drive the margin improvement, while rising materials costs remain a key risk.

Investment view

We maintain our constructive view on the high-end CCL industry S/D outlook (should maintain tight), which should continue to suggest a better pricing outlook and fast product mix improvement speed. We believe TUC will be the key share gainer in the high-end AI server and Ethernet switch industry, considering its proactive capacity expansion plans (30%+ 2026-27E CAGR per GSe), which should help the company to further improve its product mix and margin profile in long term. Moreover, we see TUC is not only gaining share in the high-end AI/switch market, it is also gaining market share in the 1.6T optical transceiver from the market share leader, and we believe TUC can become the major supplier for this high-end product in coming years. Considering the 1.6T optical transceiver will also be based on M8+ CCL with solid shipment growth outlook, we believe this product could become the next revenue and margin driver for TUC in coming quarters / years, without much competition.

For mid to low end suppliers, we do see lots of spillover order opportunity from the high-end suppliers (due to high-end suppliers all raising low end product pricing significantly in April), which should help ITEQ to improve its utilization rate, suggesting a better GM/OPM outlook. Moreover, the solid general server demand driven by agentic AI could also be a key driver for ITEQ's revenue/GM in coming quarters/years. However, we continue to see potential risks from commodity CCL suppliers entering the mid to low end high-speed CCL market, as they have much higher capacity scale and lower cost, which suggests high risk to ITEQ's long term market share position in the mid to low end high-speed CCL market.

Overall, we maintain our positive view on TUC and maintain Buy with TP of NT$1,888 (from NT$1,165) and maintain Sell on ITEQ with TP of NT$117 (from NT$102)

Earnings revisionsTUC

We revise up 2026/27/28E revenue estimates by 16/25/32% to factor in stronger-than-expected CCL pricing from 2H26 and onward and improving product mix, and revise up our 2026/27 GM estimate by 0.7/0.2ppt to factor in the better margin improvement driven by higher pricing. For earnings, we revise up 2026/27/28E net income estimates by 20%/30%/32%.

ITEQ

We revise up our 2026/27/28E revenue estimates by 5/6/9% to reflect the continued strength in the general server demand outlook and incorporate the additional capacity expansion coming online in 2028; however, we revise down our 2026/27/28E GM estimates by 1.4/1.0/1.0ppt to factor in the faster-than-expected increase in material cost. Overall, we revise up our 2026E earnings estimates by 1% due to better general server demand, revise down our 2027E earnings estimates by 4% with the upward revenue revision largely offset by more conservative margin estimates, and revise up our 2028E earnings estimates by 2% with more contribution from new capacity.

Investment Thesis & PT methodology and risks

TUC is a key high-end global CCL supplier that focuses on M7+ grade high-speed CCL (key applications include high-end switches (100G+) and AI server materials), with 20%+ market share in the past two years. The company continues to expect its unit market share in the server industry to increase from 15% in Whitley and Purley to higher in the Eagle Stream generation, given its plans to launch two types of products for low-end and high-end customers (T2A and T2C) to gain market share. Also, strong growth in 400G/800G switch shipments and new 800G switch shipments, scheduled for launch in 2025-27, should continue to be a key demand driver for TUC, in our view. Additionally, the company is working on high-end AI projects with CSP and enterprise players, which we believe should drive revenue momentum in the long term. We view the stock as undervalued vs. Taiwan CCL peers on a P/E basis and rate it Buy.

Key downside risks include: (1) slower-than-expected share gains in the low-loss CCL segment; (2) rising trade tensions, which could lead to weaker server and switch shipments globally; and (3) rising competition from mainland China peers.

Valuation methodology: Our 12m TP of NT$1,888 is based on 22x 2027E P/E (+2x STDV higher than the past 3-year industry average P/E multiple).

Key downside risks: (1) slower-than-expected share gains in the low-loss CCL segment; (2) rising trade tensions, which could lead to weaker server and switch shipments globally; and (3) rising competition from mainland China peers.

ITEQ is a key high-end CCL player, mainly focused on the server market (15-20% global share as of 2024). While we are positive on its long-term outlook given promising growth in the server CCL and automotive high-speed CCL markets, we continue to see a weaker than peer revenue/profitability outlook, considering the company's lagging technology. Further, we believe the mid- to low-end CCL market oversupply issue will continue in the coming years, weighing on ITEQ's profitability in the foreseeable future. Meanwhile, the company is trading at a 2026E P/E that is much higher than the average peak valuation and Taiwan peers. We are Sell rated on the stock. Key upside risks: (1) stronger-than-expected demand from server/switch segments in the coming years; (2) stronger-than-expected CCL pricing hikes in the coming quarters without component cost increases; and (3) stronger-than-expected 5G BTS demand globally in the coming quarters.

Valuation methodology: Our 12m TP of NT$117 is based on a 3Q26E-2Q27E P/E multiple of 13.5x (-0.5x s.d. lower than past 10-year average valuation).

Key upside risks: (1) stronger-than-expected demand from server/switch segments in the coming years; (2) stronger-than-expected CCL pricing hikes in the coming quarters without component cost increases; and (3) stronger-than-expected 5G BTS demand globally in the coming quarters.

GS Factor Profile

The Goldman Sachs Factor Profile provides investment context for a stock by comparing key attributes to the market (i.e. our universe of rated stocks) and its sector peers. The four key attributes depicted are: Growth, Financial Returns, Multiple (e.g. valuation) and Integrated (a composite of Growth, Financial Returns and Multiple). Growth, Financial Returns and Multiple are calculated by using normalized ranks for specific metrics for each stock. The normalized ranks for the metrics are then averaged and converted into percentiles for the relevant attribute. The precise calculation of each metric may vary depending on the fiscal year, industry and region, but the standard approach is as follows:

Growth is based on a stock's forward-looking sales growth, EBITDA growth and EPS growth (for financial stocks, only EPS and sales growth), with a higher percentile indicating a higher growth company. Financial Returns is based on a stock's forward-looking ROE, ROCE and CROCI (for financial stocks, only ROE), with a higher percentile indicating a company with higher financial returns. Multiple is based on a stock's forward-looking P/E, P/B, price/dividend (P/D), EV/EBITDA, EV/FCF and EV/Debt Adjusted Cash Flow (DACF) (for financial stocks, only P/E, P/B and P/D), with a higher percentile indicating a stock trading at a higher multiple. The Integrated percentile is calculated as the average of the Growth percentile, Financial Returns percentile and (100% - Multiple percentile).

Financial Returns and Multiple use the Goldman Sachs analyst forecasts at the fiscal year-end at least three quarters in the future. Growth uses inputs for the fiscal year at least seven quarters in the future compared with the year at least three quarters in the future (on a per-share basis for all metrics).

For a more detailed description of how we calculate the GS Factor Profile, please contact your GS representative.

M&A Rank

Across our global coverage, we examine stocks using an M&A framework, considering both qualitative factors and quantitative factors (which may vary across sectors and regions) to incorporate the potential that certain companies could be acquired. We then assign a M&A rank as a means of scoring companies under our rated coverage from 1 to 3, with 1 representing high (30%-50%) probability of the company becoming an acquisition target, 2 representing medium (15%-30%) probability and 3 representing low (0%-15%) probability. For companies ranked 1 or 2, in line with our standard departmental guidelines we incorporate an M&A component into our target price. M&A rank of 3 is considered immaterial and therefore does not factor into our price target, and may or may not be discussed in research.

Ratings, coverage universe and related definitions

Buy (B), Neutral (N), Sell (S) Analysts recommend stocks as Buys or Sells for inclusion on various regional Investment Lists. Being assigned a Buy or Sell on an Investment List is determined by a stock's total return potential relative to its coverage universe. Any stock not assigned as a Buy or a Sell on an Investment List with an active rating (i.e., a stock that is not Rating Suspended, Not Rated, Early-Stage Biotech, Coverage Suspended or Not Covered), is deemed Neutral. Each region manages Regional Conviction Lists, which are selected from Buy rated stocks on the respective region's Investment Lists and represent investment recommendations focused on the size of the total return potential and/or the likelihood of the realization of the return across their respective areas of coverage. The addition or removal of stocks from such Conviction Lists are managed by the Investment Review Committee or other designated committee in each respective region and do not represent a change in the analysts' investment rating for such stocks.

Total return potential represents the upside or downside differential between the current share price and the price target, including all paid or anticipated dividends, expected during the time horizon associated with the price target. Price targets are required for all covered stocks. The total return potential, price target and associated time horizon are stated in each report adding or reiterating an Investment List membership.

Coverage Universe: A list of all stocks in each coverage universe is available by primary analyst, stock and coverage universe at <https://www.gs.com/research/hedge.html>.

The investment rating, target price and earnings estimates (where relevant) are removed pursuant to Goldman Sachs policy when Goldman Sachs is acting in an advisory capacity in a merger or in a strategic transaction involving this company, when there are legal, regulatory or policy constraints due to Goldman Sachs' involvement in a transaction, and in certain other circumstances. Early-Stage Biotech (ES). An investment rating and a target price are not assigned pursuant to Goldman Sachs policy when this company has neither a drug, treatment or medical device that has passed a Phase II clinical trial nor a license to distribute a post-Phase II drug, treatment or medical device. Rating Suspended (RS). Goldman Sachs Research has suspended the investment rating and price target for this stock, because there is not a sufficient fundamental basis for determining an investment rating or target price. The previous investment rating and target price, if any, are no longer in effect for this stock and should not be relied upon. Coverage Suspended (CS). Goldman Sachs has suspended coverage of this company. Not Covered (NC). Goldman Sachs does not cover this company.
